- Do you give advice to parents or carers on school issues?
- Do you need help to keep up with frequent changes to education law and guidance?

Education Step-by-Step can help

Education Step-by-Step

ACE's popular package of advice manuals and training for advisers enables you to give effective, legally accurate advice to parents and carers, or to support other professionals. If you already work in the field of education you can use the manuals immediately. If you are new to education advice you may want to take a training session with ACE to launch your effective use of the materials.

“The manuals had a dramatic effect on my confidence in giving advice”

“I wish I could have had

The comprehensive Education Step-by-Step manuals give step-by-step, legally correct advice, in a straightforward style, on the main areas of schooling in which problems arise including:

1. Choosing a school
2. Appealing for a school place
3. Special educational needs, statutory assessment and the statementing process
4. Exclusions
5. Bullying
6. Action when things go wrong

ACE's Step-by-Step package includes:

- A set of two manuals
- A full day of one-to-one or small group training (optional)
- Updates and new material as law and guidance change
- A back-up helpline exclusively for Step-by-Step users to speak to an ACE adviser on difficult issues
- A licensed training scheme, and other training options

“The back-up line and updates are an essential part of the package”

“this training years ago!”

The adviser’s manual provides the practical steps, an overview of the education system, explanations of jargon, legal references and suggested further reading.

The parents’ manual uses everyday language to inform the parent or carer of the steps for them to take action, and can be photocopied.

Both manuals include model letters for you or the parent to send to the school, the local authority or others.

“The manuals and advice network are a very high quality and innovative piece of work which has national significance”

ACE’s Step-by-Step package is now used by over 450 advisers in voluntary and statutory organisations across England.
